

Le Dynasty Freaking Gazette

December 27, 2020

Letter from the Editor: Chronicle Corp. 2020 Address

We live in unprecedented times...it is important that I make note of that because it truly is not being said enough today. COVID-19 has reminded me that we are all in this together. We're all just trying to do our best at this crazy thing I like to call "life". We're all just on this big ole rock flying through space learning how to love and be loved. It is in this moment of severe clarity that I proudly announce that Chronicle Corp. will be reducing shift times at the printing press from 16 to 14 hours to help flatten this damn ass curve and bring our troops home. This will allow our essential workers to spend less time stressing out at work and more time stressing out at home (home is where the heart is). Our entire corporate mission is best summarized in the following Jimi Hendrix quote: "Be the change you want to see in the world". We are totally trying, and I hope that is good enough for you people.

Drew Gilmore, Editor-in-Chief

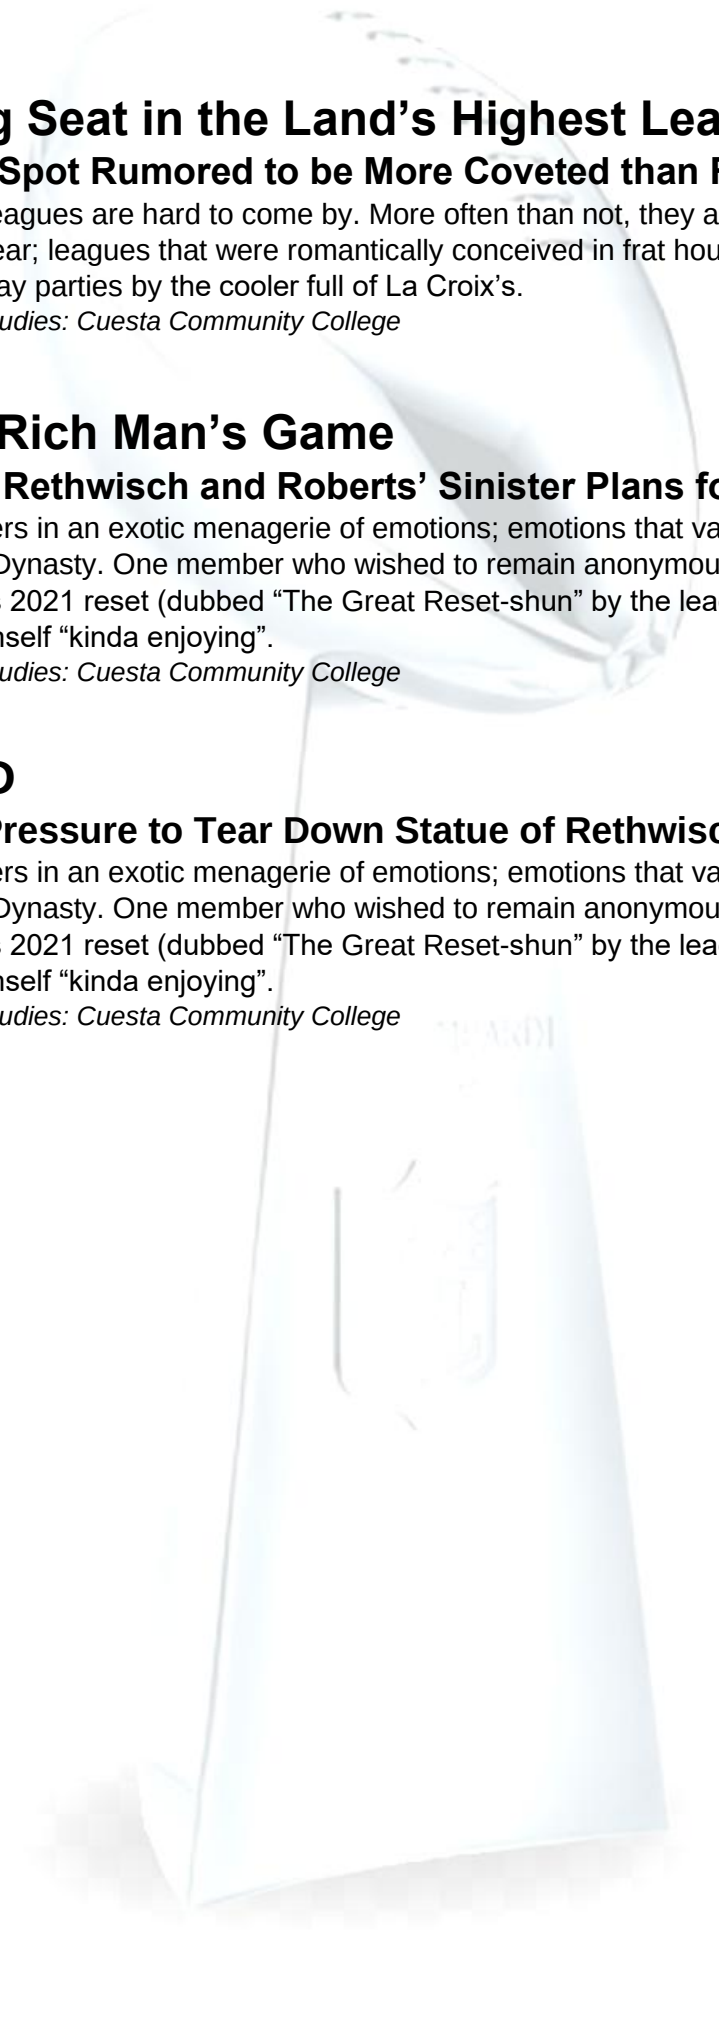

Top Headlines of 2020

Encinitas Dynasty Goes Nuclear with Rethwisch Win

League Opinions Vary as Silverbacks Flex their Ass Muscles for the Third Time

The end of the season ushers in an exotic menagerie of emotions; emotions that vary wildly across the landscape of the Encinitas Dynasty. Excitement and dismay alike took possession of the hearts of onlookers as Marcus Rethwisch achieved a feat that has only ever occurred in the deep recesses of his most elusive and obscure fantasies. In stunning fashion, the almost unbelievably believable outcome of a Rethwisch 3-peat rode into the holy city of Fantasy not on stallion but on a colt: Rethwisch met his fair share of adversity during a season in which he was expected to meet none...after all, who could've guessed the 2020 victor would be hoisting the trophy with CMC, Julio Jones, and Michael Thomas warming the bench. Rethwisch went on the record saying that the victory "in no way surprised" him, and that his opponent, the formidable Cal Roberts, "didn't turn out to be so flush at RB you freak" (emphasis added). League members offered mixed reviews pertaining to the league's hazy future. One member who wished to remain anonymous gave an exclusive to the Gazette saying the league's 2021 reset (dubbed "The Great Reset-shun" by the league's far-left radicals) was something he could see himself "kinda enjoying" (further comments redacted). Now the league will lay in wait in what will undoubtedly be the most controversial and debate-laden offseason on record. Sources close to the commissioner are even hinting at new rule proposals for kickers to be drafted as early as August 2021. This will certainly be an exciting time to keep up with the comings and goings of the ED.

John Doe – Ph.D in Redraft Studies: Cuesta Community College

Filling a Missing Seat in the Land's Highest League

ED's Illustrious 10th Spot Rumored to be More Coveted than RBG's Court Seat

Nine-man fantasy football leagues are hard to come by. More often than not, they are dehydrated shells of glorious leagues of yesteryear; leagues that were romantically conceived in frat houses only to now exist in shadow at 4-year-old birthday parties by the cooler full of La Croix's.

John Doe – Ph.D in Redraft Studies: Cuesta Community College

Everything is a Rich Man's Game

Rumors Swirl about Rethwisch and Roberts' Sinister Plans for Auction League

The end of the season ushers in an exotic menagerie of emotions; emotions that vary wildly across the landscape of the Encinitas Dynasty. One member who wished to remain anonymous gave an exclusive to the Gazette saying the league's 2021 reset (dubbed "The Great Reset-shun" by the league's far-left radicals) was something he could see himself "kinda enjoying".

John Doe – Ph.D in Redraft Studies: Cuesta Community College

Opinion: The ED

ED Officials Under Pressure to Tear Down Statue of Rethwisch

The end of the season ushers in an exotic menagerie of emotions; emotions that vary wildly across the landscape of the Encinitas Dynasty. One member who wished to remain anonymous gave an exclusive to the Gazette saying the league's 2021 reset (dubbed "The Great Reset-shun" by the league's far-left radicals) was something he could see himself "kinda enjoying".

John Doe – Ph.D in Redraft Studies: Cuesta Community College